The Baltimore Office of Promotion & The Arts (BOPA) announces an artist talk with Stephanie Barber on Saturday, January 26, 2019 at 2pm at School 33 Art Center, located at 1427 Light St., Baltimore, MD 21230. In conversation with poet Buck Downs, Barber will discuss her exhibition, "Nature as a Metaphor for Economic, Emotional and Existential Horror," the expanded text associated with the exhibition and the role of language in the visual arts. Managed by BOPA, School 33 Art Center's gallery hours are Wednesday through Saturday from 11am to 4pm.

Barber's solo exhibition is on view at School 33 Art Center in the Members Gallery through Saturday, February 2, 2019. The artist uses words as sculptural elements to contemplate the morphological state of language and nature in her body of work in a variety of media. Additionally, her films have received solo exhibitions at MoMA, New York City; National Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C.; Yerba Buena Center, San Francisco; National Film Academy, Prague; Lowenbraukunst, Zurich; Anthology Film Archives, New York City, among others. Her books "These Here Separated..." and "Night Moves" were published by Publishing Genius Press, and her collection of short stories "All The People" was published by Ink Press Productions.

School 33 Art Center is dedicated to providing opportunities for contemporary visual artists through solo and group exhibitions, art classes, hands-on workshops, a Studio Artist Program and special events. A facility of the Baltimore Office of Promotion & The Arts (BOPA), School 33 Art Center is supported in part by the City of Baltimore, Maryland State Arts Council and through private contributions.

The Baltimore Office of Promotion & The Arts (BOPA) is a 501 (c)(3) nonprofit organization which serves as Baltimore City's arts council, events center and film office. By producing large-scale events such as Artscape, Baltimore Book Festival and Light City, and providing funding and support to artists, arts programs and organizations across the city, BOPA's goal is to make Baltimore a more vibrant and creative city.
